

Aloha mai kākou,

We'd first like to thank you for your commitment to our communities, families, and individuals in Hawai'i. Now more than ever, people are experiencing changes like never before and we all have likely seen a prevalence in the need for mental health support.

The rise in need has prompted us to seek additional clinicians to join our team. In our community, there is a great need for clinicians that are willing to see children and adolescents. We have a physical presence in Kailua-Kona, HI and provide both safe in-person sessions as well as Telehealth services. Our hope is to expand our network to other areas in the State of Hawai'i and, thus, are flexible about location. We hope that you will take some time to learn more about who we are.

If you are interested in joining a building and successful private practice or are looking to expand your current practice, we would appreciate the opportunity to talk with you.

Catherine Okumura and we look forward to hearing from you.

WHO WE ARE

Ho'oulu is translated as:

"to grow | sprout, propagate | to cause to increase, as the surf." - Hawaiian Dictionary, Pukui

This is the philosophy that we share with our clientele. We began our private practice journey in 2018 in Kailua-Kona, driven by the need in our community for safe, respectful, timely, and culturally sensitive services. Since that time, we've grown to four strong clinicians, each with their own niche. We have built relationships with medical offices, our local hospital, and community agencies.

Our goal is create a warm and welcoming counseling center that focuses on the growth of our communities, one person and one 'ohana at a time. When the time is right, we hope that our future will include expansion of locations and being of service to our aspiring therapists.
